Controller for Cheetah's Network Tracker

Cheetah Technologies' CheetahLynx Controller is a one rack unit, small form factor IP based network element that enables clients to remotely view and alarm on RF level and DOCSIS® channel measurements using Cheetah's Network Tracker device. The controller can be setup for manual or automatic discovery of all Network Tracker devices deployed throughout the network (up to 200 devices per controller). As the number of Network Tracker deployments grows, additional controllers can be added to meet system expansion requirements.
